

David Leonhardt is an economics columnist for The New York Times and The International Herald Tribune. He is based in Washington, D.C. He is also a staff writer for The Times Magazine and a contributor to The Times' Economix blog. He appears regularly on radio and television and lectures at universities. He has worked for The Times since 1999 and previously worked for The Washington Post and Business Week magazine. A native of New York, he graduated from Yale University, majoring in applied mathematics.