

Dr. Morris is Senior Vice President of CH2M HILL's Environmental Services business group. He currently is principally responsible for the company's delivery of environmental remediation, restoration, and waste management services for clients worldwide. He has 30 years of experience providing consulting and construction management services to industry, cities and national governments in the area of groundwater and soil investigation, risk assessment, water and soil decontamination, remediation and restoration, and sustainable solutions. Most recently, Dr. Morris was Head of Environment and Sustainability for London2012's delivery partner.